Together or apart, we’re all Team Darby.

As a distributor of critically needed Personal Protective Equipment (PPE), we know we have an important role to play in making supplies available to healthcare workers on the front lines. This is a responsibility we take very seriously as the world faces this healthcare challenge and hospitals need our help. We have taken the following steps to aid in the supply effort for healthcare providers:

• We have been in touch with state and local officials regarding their needs for gloves, masks, gowns, and other PPE and are working with them to ship these supplies to where they are most needed.

• Last week, we provided thousands of much needed gloves to COVID-19 testing sites in Suffolk and Nassau counties, New York, where our Jericho office is located.

• We also delivered thousands of masks, gloves, and gowns to first responders in Nassau and Suffolk County Fire, PD, and Rescue.

We are taking all the necessary steps to make sure that we do everything that we can to supply our customers and protect the safety of our employees. We will continue to provide updates as the situation evolves.

Though we may be apart, we will get through this together. Here are just some of the faces of Team Darby working hard to support our customers and each other!
